 alerted me to the fact that a considerable flap was developing around the intelligence community as a result of charging the White House telephones which were recently installed in the Board members' homes to their parent services. I tipped General Cabell that he might receive a call from Major McNally of the White House on this subject and that I saw no reason in the world why we should change our position in this matter.

2. Pete Scoville telephoned in connection with the power line, which is being erected by the Virginia Electric Power Company, to our site. He said that it was going to cross a lot of people's properties, including his own, and that there was considerable concern among the neighborhood. He felt that there were at least two other routes it could take which would be far less objectionable---along the side of the new Circumferential Road or along Highway 193. I told him that we would look into this matter but we could, of course, not dictate where the lines go since this was a matter of concern to the County. H

3. Gordon Stewart and I, as well as several other members of his Staff, met briefly with Mr. Kirkpatrick and certain members of his Staff to discuss the beginning of the IG survey of the Office of Personnel and the Career Service. It is anticipated that this will take several months; however, they estimate now that they will complete the Office of Personnel proper in about three months.
